FIND YOUR NAME IN THE BEE

And Bring It To The Idle Hour
Picture Show Any Night
Next Week

IT IS WORTH ONE DOLLAR

There are the names of about 800 people in Earlington in this issue of the paper. Find your name and bring the paper to the Idle Hour Picture show any night next week and you may get a dollar. The names will be placed in a box and well shaken up. Some one will then take a name from the box and if that person is in the house at the time and has a copy of the Bee containing their name they will be presented with a brand new one dollar bill. Two dollars will be given away each night to some one who may be you. If you do not get the Bee, copies may be had at this office for 5 cents. It will not be permissible to borrow your neighbor's paper. You must have one of your own in order to get the dollar.

PREPARE FOR WAR ON NIGHT RIDERS

Caldwell Citizens To Hold Mass-Meeting,
And Judge Gordon Makes Stirring Appeal

Princeton, Ky., June 6.—A mass meeting of the citizens of this county has been called to meet here Saturday for the purpose of discussing measures and taking steps looking to the suppression of plant bed vandalism, which has been menacing this section for several weeks. This action follows the vigorous charge of Judge J. F. Gordon, to the grand jury yesterday.

Upon convening court this morning Judge Gordon stated that he had been called upon by numbers of citizens, representing all classes, to make this move, and in a stirring address of twenty minutes he appealed to the people to get together and uphold the court in suppressing lawlessness, and called on all those who would support this movement to stand.

The large crowd present voted unanimously in favor of the court's action. The court said the people are aroused in this matter and the movement will have a telling effect in deterring the depredations that are being committed in this county.

THE MILLETTE SHOW

Takes the Prize Over Any That Has Paid Our City a Visit

When it comes to real top-liner entertainments of a diversified character, none have visited Pembroke (at any price) that can overtop the Millette's Famous Show. Our people will have the opportunity during next week of seeing a real vaudeville show by real performers, which is a privilege seldom enjoyed by small cities even at any price, and think of it! for only 10 and 20 cents.

Believe us, the acts of Messrs Al and Arthur Millette, and of Miss Frankie Moore, are alone worth three times the price of admission, while each of the members of the company is an artist in his or her line.

Aside from the show business, this company is composed of ladies and gentlemen, and it is a rare pleasure to have such a company make your city a visit.

Bishop C. E. Woodcock

The Rev. Charles E. Woodcock, of Louisville, Bishop of the Episcopal church in Kentucky addressed a large audience at the Methodist church Wednesday evening. He was a guest of Mrs. P. D. Banks that evening returning to his home in Louisville Thursday. This congregation will commence at once to build a church in Madisonville on their lot on Main street near the home of Dr. Ross. Rev. G. C. Abbott of Hopkinsville who has been coming to this city and Madisonville for the past seven years has worked hard to secure the money for this building. After the church is built there will be a Minister appointed for the local church in Madisonville and he will also take care of the members of that church in this city.

There are only about eight or ten here, but they hope to have more when they get a building near as Madisonville where they can attend worship more often.

ALL WRONG

The Mistake Is Made By Many Earlington Citizens

Look for the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause.

If it's weak kidneys you must set the kidneys working right.

An Earlington resident tells you how.

Mrs. Joseph Blondin, Earlington, Ky., says: "One of my family suffered from a very annoying case of kidney complaint for years. He took medicine and doctor'd faithfully, but could get no relief. His back pained constantly and the kidney secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills had been highly recommended and he finally procured a supply at the St. Bernard Mining Co., Inc. The results of their use were all that could have been desired. Every symptom of kidney trouble left in a short time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

McCREARY

Announces His Candidacy For Senate

HIS OPPONENTS ARE FORMER GOV. BECKHAM AND CONGRESSMAN.

A. O. STANLEY

Frankfort, Ky., June 9.—Gov. J. B. McCreary tonight announced his candidacy for United States Senator from Kentucky to succeed W. O. Bradley, Republican. His candidacy is subject to the Democratic primary next year. He will contest in the primary with former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, who was endorsed in the Democratic primary for the senate vacancy to which Senator Bradley was elected when a long deadlock in the legislature was broken five years ago. Congressman A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, is also a candidate.

Oil Excitement is High in Sebree. Sebree, Ky., June 7.—That oil and gas in paying quantities exist here seems to be the opinion of experts who are investigating the field, with strong probabilities that test wells will be sunk by the last of the month. W. A. Meyers, of Chicago, has been here for about six weeks taking all the leases on farm land he can secure, paying cash for them. This morning L. E. Bewley, of Bridgeport, Ill., representing other Illinois capitalist, arrived and went into the field at once in search of unleased lands.

For many years there has been splendid evidence found here that Sebree and vicinity was directly over a lake of oil. About twenty years ago, while the L. & N. Railroad company was boring for water near the present L. and N. station, gas was struck, and the flow was so great that it was piped to the old hotel building and used for lighting the hotel, but as the L. & N. was not looking for gas, the well was plugged up and no more attention was paid to it. Later a company bored a well near where the gas was found, and at a depth of 1,000 feet struck both oil and gas, but the machinery was not equipped to go deeper, so the well was abandoned with no sufficient oil or gas to

Not Likely.
"I wish you would shout at me, just the same as you shout at the animals you are going to kill," said Judge Moss, at the Carnarvon (Wales) county court, to a butcher who was giving evidence in quiet tones. "If you were going to kill an obstreperous bull you would not whisper like this," added his honor.

Disputed Door.
A curious suit is reported from Avignon, France. It is brought by an antiquary to obtain possession of the door of the city of Alan, which he had bought. Possession was refused on a prior contract with another party, but this contention was discovered. At this stage it was discovered that an old agreement existed prohibiting the demolition of any part of the property. This agreement is now being contested, and it is anticipated that the sale to the antiquary will be confirmed.

Making All Happy.

"What I deem an appropriate present is a book, and that I must choose for myself," writes a correspondent of the London Chronicle. "To leave the selection to friends would be a catastrophe. Every year, therefore, on behalf of those generously minded individuals who have kindly thought toward me, I buy books for myself, tell them, and get the money refunded. And in the measure of monetary value they remember me, I likewise remember them—in any article of their own choosing. And we are all happy."

When your child has whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectoration easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also liquify the tough mucus and make it easier to expectorate. It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by All Dealers.

Real Friend.

There is one friend who will never fail you while you have hands to move and a brain to plan. In your dearest hours she will be your sweet refuge, and in times of prosperity she will guard you from "the pride which goeth before a fall." She will bring you long nights of restful sleep at the end of your busy days and when other friends grow careless or disdainful, she will absorb you more and more. Her name is Work, and neither the highest nor the lowest can be happy for long without her.

Where "Yiddish" Comes From.

The Hebrews who live in Germany speak the German language, using among themselves a peculiar dia'ct called "Yiddish," that term being itself a corrupt form of the German word Yudisch. Russian Hebrews also use this language, while by a curious chal'f of historic events Turkish Hebrews speak Spanish. Printed Yiddish shows an interesting combination of languages, the words being essentially German, but printed in Hebrew characters.—Christian Herald.

Practical Ventilating Hint.
The house should be ventilated in winter as well as in summer if the family is to be kept in good health. Bedrooms, especially, should be provided with a free circulation of fresh air. One way to get fresh air in a bedroom without having a draft is to tack strips of cheesecloth across the top and the bottom of the window so that when it is opened in both places the fresh air will enter the room and yet, should there be a strong wind, its force will be broken by the cloth.

Billious? Feel heavy after dinner? Bitter taste? Complexion sallow? Liver perhaps needs waking up. Doan's Regulite for billious attacks. 25¢ at all stores.

Why Snow is Warm.
Snow is warm by virtue of its light and woolly texture. But it is also warm on account of its whiteness. Had snow been black it would have absorbed the heat of the sun and melted quickly. Instead, it reflects heat, and the reflected heat falls upon bodies above the snow, while the warmth of the earth is preserved beneath it.

Her Infinite Variety.
As we sit down and ponder over the summer courtship we find the hand that wielded the canoe paddle now wields the broom. The suppers on river banks are now in a small dining room. The gazing at the sky in summer time is now looking to see if the wash can safely be put out. The hand in the wash tub is the hand that trailed over the canoe side. The soft voice in quiet lanes is now—Don't you think it's a cruel world?

While waiting for the arrival of a plumber, when the water pipes have sprung a leak, the housewife may do a little repairing herself. The water should be turned off and a solder made by mixing some whiting with common yellow soap and just enough water to form a thick paste. Apply this mixture to the leak and in a little while the water may be turned back very slowly. This solder may last a day or longer.

Didnt Know Stone's Value.

While rummaging through an old chest Mrs. J. S. Wetzel, of Ravenswood, W. Va., came across an old stone that had been given her by a relative 27 years ago, and which she thought had no value. She showed it to a guest at her home and he took it to a jeweler, who declared it an uncut diamond worth $1,200.

Success depends largely upon Good Health

In your race for success don't lose sight of the fact that only through good health can you attain success.

The tension you must necessarily place upon your nerves, and the sacrifice of proper exercise you have to make at times must be balanced in some way.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the balancing power—a vitalizing power. It acts on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, thus purifying the blood and giving strength to the nerves, indirectly aiding the liver to perform its very important work. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been successful for a generation as a tonic and body builder. Sold by medicine dealers in liquid or tablet form—trial box of "Tablets" mailed on receipt of 50 one-cent stamps.

If in failing health write Dr. R. V. Pierce's faculty at Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, New York.

DR. PIERCE'S GREAT FAMILY DOCTOR BOOK, The People's Common Medicinal Adviser—newly revised up-to-date edition—of 1008 pages, answers hosts of delicate questions which every man, single or married, ought to know. Sent FREE in cloth binding to any address on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of wrapping and mailing only.

COLORED COLUMN.

REV. J. R. EVANS, EDITOR

Mrs. Annie Martin who died in Clarksville Tenn. last Saturday was brought home and buried Monday in the absence of Rev. Evans, Rev. Whiteside preached the funeral. Mrs. Martin was buried with honors from the S. M. F. Lodge of Mortons Gap.

Rev. M. H. Holloway of Clarksville Tenn. was in our city and preached at the Baptist Church last Monday night to a crowded house.

Rev. H. Amos has purchased a home here and will soon move back to Earlington.

Our sick people are all doing well now.

Rev. Evans has just returned from an extended visit in Tenn. he preached last Sunday to a great crowd at his old home, Brownsville Tenn. The occasion being the 50th. anniversary of Rev. H. Smith. Those who heard Rev. Evans on that occasion say he preached the sermon of his life.

The Hopkinsville Cubs down the Stars of Earlington. Ben Edmonds was driven from the box in the first inning. Hopkinsville made 12 hits and 6 runs in the first inning. Claud Hughes battery was the feature of the game he made several fine plays.

Sev. R. P. Whiteside will hold his rally next Sunday. Rev. Evans will preach for him in the afternoon.

Bible Fund Anniversary
The Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention located at Nashville Tenn. Have a bible fund the purpose of which is to enable it to furnish Bibles and Testaments placed within the bounds of said S. B. Convention.

The Second Sunday in June of every year is set apart for that purpose, and the regular S. S. collection is turned over to that fund.

It has been the custom of the Earlington B. S. S. every year to contribute to that fund and this year a little anniversary was held for the S. S. children in connection with it, consisting of reading and reciting and singing.

A moved feature of the program was a song chorus entitled the "Teachers dream".

The words are the experience of a S. S. teacher who had been teaching a class of girls for years and in her dream she saw her scholars the portal of heaven one after another during the years the years had reflected her own condition, while it was the means of much joy and satisfaction to her that her class was saved, yet she was outside the "pearly gates" though it was left agar.

The verses were sung as solo accompanied by the organ and the chorus sung by four little girls on the outside accompanied by the effect produced a deep sympathetic and was well enjoyed by the audience.

At the close the contribution was taken up which amounted to $10.20 for which the Baptist Sunday School feel grateful to all.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism untrained for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

STORY OF FAMOUS CIVIL WAR FIGHT

Battle of Gettysburg Which Brought Credit to Both Blue and Gray.

TURNING POINT OF CONFLICT

Total Losses on Both Sides in Three Days' Fighting Over 50,000—Several Generals Killed and Wounded.

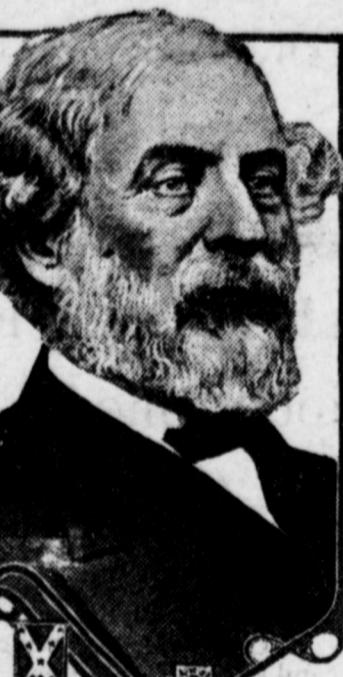

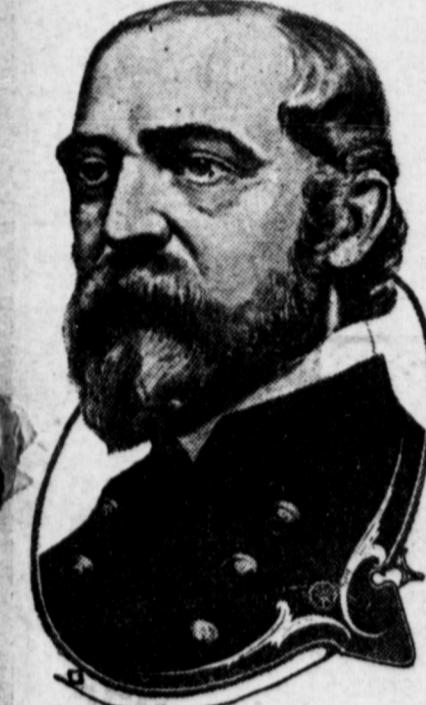

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

WASHINGTON.—It is possible, some people would say probable, that the Battle of Gettysburg changed utterly the course of American history. It was a great fight between armies of Americans, for probably fully ninety per cent. of the men who fought on the two sides were born natives to the American soil. The bravery shown at Gettysburg was of the order which Americans have shown on every field and which reflects credit upon the hardy and heroic ancestry of the men engaged, no matter from what race they may have sprung.

At Gettysburg there was nothing to choose between the valor of the North and the South. The South lost the fight, but it lost it honorably and with the prestige of its soldiery undimmed. The charges made on that field have gone down into history as assaults made under conditions which every man felt might mean death at the end. The defenses made at Gettysburg were of the kind which it takes iron in the blood to make perfect. At Gettysburg Northerners and Southerners replenished their store of respect for their antagonists. The battle marked the high tide of the war between the states. After it the South largely was on the defensive, but its defense was maintained with fortitude and in the face of privations which could not chill the blood of men fighting for what they thought was the right.

The Northern armies were persistent in their attacks through the campaigns which after a few months were started against the objective point, Richmond. Brave men here and brave men there, and after the end came it was the qualities which keep company with bravery which made the soldiers of the North and South so ready to forget and to forgive and to work again for the good of a common country.

The great battle of Chancellorsville was fought not long before the opposing Union and Confederate forces met on the field of Gettysburg. Chancellorsville was a Confederate victory. The Southern government believed that the victory should be followed up by an invasion of the North for, according to its reasoning, if an important engagement could be won upon was ordered to make its way into the Susquehanna Valley through the town of Gettysburg and then to turn in its course after destroying railroads and gathering in supplies, and to meet the Confederate commander with the main army at Harrisburg.

It was General Jubal A. Early of General Lee's command, who reached Gettysburg after a long hard march on June 26. From there he went to the town of York and from thence to Wrightsville. At this place he was ordered by General Lee to retrace his steps and to bring his detachment back to a camp near Gettysburg. When Early had obeyed Lee's order and had reached a point near Gettysburg he found the entire Southern force was camped within easy striking distance of the now historic town.

In the meantime things were happening elsewhere. General Hooker in command of the Union army which had been depleted at Chancellorsville, had succeeded in out-maneuvering General Stuart in command of Lee's cavalry, had got around Stuart's command in a way to prevent the Southern general from forming junction with the forces of his chief commander. Lee gave over the proposed movement on Harrisburg when he heard of Hooker's approach and brought the different parts of his army together.

Four days before the Gettysburg fight began General Hooker resigned as commander of the Union army. Hooker and General Hallock disagreed upon a matter concerning which strategists today say that General Hooker was right. Three days before the battle began, that is, June 28, 1863, General George Gordon Meade was named as General Hooker's successor in charge of the Northern army. General Meade at once went into the field and established his headquarters at a point ten or twelve miles south of the town of Gettysburg.

Armies Meet at Gettysburg.

It seems that General Lee on hearing that Stuart had not succeeded in checking the Union army's advance had made up his mind to turn southward to meet the force of Hooker, or as it turned out the force of Meade. Lee with his force had advanced north beyond Gettysburg, while Meade with his force was south of the town. The fields near the Pennsylvania village had not been picked as a place of battle, but there it was that the two great armies came together and for three days struggled for the mastery.

On the last day of June, the day before the real battle of Gettysburg began, General Reynolds, a corps commander of the Union army, went forward to feel out the enemy. He reached Gettysburg by nightfall. His corps, the First, together with the Third and the Eleventh Infantry Corps with a division of cavalry, composed the Union army's left wing.

The Fifth Army Corps was sent to Hanover, southeast of Gettysburg, and the Twelfth Corps was immediately south of Gettysburg at a distance of eight or nine miles. This was on June 30, and the Union forces were fairly well separated, but they were converging at Gettysburg with their objective.

Forces Almost Evenly Matched.
It never has been determined beyond the point of all dispute just how many men were engaged on each side in the battle of Gettysburg. It is known that the armies were very nearly equal in strength, the probabilities being that the Confederate force was a few thousand men stronger than the Union force, a difference which was balanced perhaps by the fact that the Union armies at Gettysburg were fighting in defense of their land from invasion, a condition which military men say always adds a subtle something to the fighting quality which is in any man. Some authorities have said that there were 100,000 men in the Confederate forces at Gettysburg to be confronted by 90,000 Union troops. Another authority says that the Confederate force was 84,000 and the Union force 80,000. As it was the armies were pretty nearly equally divided in strength.

In June, 1863, General Robert E. Lee began to move northward. Lee concentrated his army at Winchester, Va., and then started for the Potomac river, which he crossed to reach the state of Maryland. He fully expected to be followed by General Hooker's army and so General Stuart with a large force of cavalry was ordered by Lee to keep in front of Hooker's army and to check his pursuit of the Confederates if it was attempted.

Late in June the Confederate force reached Hagerstown, in the state of Maryland. It was General Lee's intention to strike Harrisburg, Pa., which was a great railroad center and a city where Union armies were recruited and from which all kinds of supplies were sent out to the soldiers in the field. While the Southern commander was on his way with a large part of his force to the Pennsylvania capital another part of his command the morning of July 1. He dispatched a courier to Meade saying that the high ground above Gettysburg was the proper place to meet the enemy. Not long after this message was sent to Meade General Reynolds who dispatched it, was killed. He was on horseback near a patch of woods with his force confronting a large detachment of Confederate troops which was coming toward them. These troops of the enemy were dispersed by the Union batteries and Reynolds was watching the successful solid shot and shrapnel onset when a bullet struck him in the head killing him instantly.

General Abner Doubleday succeeded Reynolds in command of the troops at that point of the field. A brigade of Confederates, a Mississippi organization, charged the Union forces, broke their organization and succeeded in making prisoners of a large part of a New York regiment. Later these men were recaptured and the Mississippi brigade was driven back, a portion of it surrendering. In the fight on the first day at this point of the field or near it, one Union regiment, the 151st Pennsylvania, lost in killed and wounded 337 men out of a total of 446 in a little more than a quarter of an hour's fight.

General Doubleday fell back to Seminary Ridge and extended his line. The forces employed against him here were greater than his own, and after hard fighting Seminary Ridge was given up. The first day's battle was in effect and in truth a victory for the Southern arms. On the night of July 1 General Hancock arrived and succeeded in rallying the Union forces and putting new heart into the men. General Meade on that night ordered the entire army to Gettysburg.

Victory Not Followed Up.
For some reason or other perhaps unknown to this day, what was virtually a Confederate victory on the first of July was not followed up by General Lee early on the next morning. General Meade therefore succeeded in strengthening his lines and in preparing for the greater conflict. One end of the Union line was some distance east of Cemetery Hill on Rock Creek, another end was at Round Top something more than two miles beyond Cemetery Hill to the south. The Confederate line confronting it was somewhat longer.

It is impossible in a brief sketch of this battle to give the names of the brigades and the regimental commanders and the names of the regiments which were engaged on both sides in this great battle. Meade, Hancock, Howard, Slocum and Sickles with their men were confronting Lee. Longstreet, Hill, Ewell and the other great commanders of the South with their men. The line of battle with the spaces in between the different commands was nearly ten miles. It was the Confederate general's intention to attack at the extreme right and left and at the center simultaneously. It was to be General Longstreet's duty to turn the left flank of the Union army and to "break it." Longstreet's intended movement was discovered in time to have it met valiantly. The battle of the second day really began with Longstreet's advance. The losses at Gettysburg on both sides were enormous. The Union army lost Generals Zook, Farnsworth, Weed and Reynolds, killed; while Graham, Barnes, Gibbon, Warren, Doubleday, Barlow, Sickles, Butterfield and Hancock were wounded. The total casualties killed, wounded, captured or missing on the Union side numbered nearly 24,000 men. On the Confederate side Generals Semmes, Pender, Garnet, Armistead, and Barksdale were killed, and Generals Kemper, Kimball, Hood, Heth, Johnson and Trimble were wounded. The entire Confederate loss is estimated to have been nearly 30,000 men.

The third day's fight at Gettysburg was a victory for northern arms, but it was a hard won fight and the conflict reflects luster today upon the north and the south. Lee led his army back southward, later to confront Grant in the campaigns which finally ended at Appomattox.

Forces Engaged and Losses.

The forces engaged at the Battle of Gettysburg were:

Confederate— According to official accounts the Army of North Virginia on the 31st of May, numbered 74,468. The detachments which joined numbered 6,400, making 80,868. Deducting the detachments left in Virginia—Jenkins' brigade, Pickett's division 2,300; Corse's brigade, Pickett's division, 1,700; detachments from Second corps and cavalry, 1,300, in all 5,300—leaves an aggregate of 75,568.

Union— According to the reports of the 30th of June, and making allowance for detachments that joined in the interim in time to take part in the battle, the grand aggregate was 100,000 officers and men.

which has gone into history as one of the most heroic assaults of all time. It was forlorn hope but it was grasped and the men of George Edward Pickett, Confederate soldier, went loyally and with full hearts to their death across a shrapnel and rifle swept field.

When the third day's fighting opened it began with an artillery duel, hundreds of guns belching forth shot and death from the batteries of both contending forces. It is said that this was the greatest duel engaged in by field pieces during the four years of the war between the states.

The Union guns at one time ceased firing, and it is said that the southern commander thought they had been silenced, and then it was that Longstreet's men made an assault and Pickett's men made their charge. The former general's objective was Big Round Top, but his forces were driven back. Pickett formed his division in brigade columns and they moved directly across the fields over flat ground. They had no cover and they had no sooner come into effective range than they were met by such a storm of shot as never before swept over a field of battle.

They went on and on, and on closing in their depleted ranks and moving steadily forward to their death. Those of Pickett's men who reached "The wagon that stands up like the reputation of its makers"

When you buy a Studebaker wagon you buy a wagon that will last until you turn the farm over to your son and he turns it over to his son.

One of the first Studebaker wagons ever made saw constant service for thirty years, and we will gladly send you the names of farmers who have in their possession wagons that have been in constant use anywhere from 17 to 48 years—and there are thousands of them. We are building the same kind of wagons today.

A Studebaker wagon is an investment that will give you full return for your outlay. It is built on honor, iron, steel, wood, paint and varnish used in its construction are tested to make sure each is the best.

For work, business or pleasure—for town or country use—there is a Studebaker vehicle to fit your requirements.

Farm wagons, dump carts, trucks, buggies, surreys, runabouts, pony carriages, business vehicles of every description—with harness of the same high standard.
